Removing the Language Barriers in Baseball

American's favorite pastime has grown beyond America's borders. Today, nearly 30% of the players in Major League Baseball (MLB) were born outside of the United States. Many of these individuals have limited ability to communicate in English. Further, the fan base of MLB has continued to grow, expanding throughout Central and South America, Europe and Asia. Reaching out to these fans requires communicating with them in languages they understand. This language barrier is also true within the United States, where one out of every five households speaks a language other than English within their home. This equates to nearly 50 million people, with 20 million having no knowledge of English at all. The bottomline is that from fans to players there is an ever growing need to be able to communicate in multiple languages. To meet this challenge of removing language barriers with an affordable and effective solution, SpeechGear has worked in partnership with the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps to develop a complete suite of instant translation products that are now available for removing language barriers throughout the world.

Communicating with Players

Players with limited English skills often have a difficult time communicating with individuals who only speak English. This language barrier can result in frustration, moral issues, and effect the player's performance. SpeechGear's instant translation products remove this language barrier and also provide an ideal way for these individuals to improve their English skills.

Communicating with Fans at the Ballpark

From the ticket sales window to concession stands, SpeechGear's products help remove language barriers resulting in a friendly experience for the fan attending a game.

Reduce Operational Costs

SpeechGear reduces operational costs by providing you with an affordable instant translation product that you own and can use as the situation dictates. This is not a service or a subscription plan. Use SpeechGear's products as often as needed with no additional usage fees being incurred.

Three Steps to Removing the Language Barrier

- 1 Within the Team: Use Interact to instantly translate conversations. Simply say a phrase and it is translated and spoken in the desired foreign language. Use Document to instantly translate handouts.
- 2 At the ballpark: Use Interpreter to greet fans in their native language and assist them with purchases in the food courts and souvenir shops plus to handle any emergency situation that may occur.
- 3 Language Learning: Most players would like to learn English, but it's difficult when you're on the road, plus most language learning programs do not support phrases used in playing ball. By letting players use Interact, they and their entire family will be able to quickly improve their English skills. With Interact, they can learn the vocabulary they are currently using versus other language learning programs where you memorize phrases in a set order that someone else has selected for you. This immediate application of needed vocabulary enables individuals to quickly improve their English skills.
